Birds of Prey Awareness

Samantha Edwards has been a Girl Scouts for 13 years and is a member of Troop 7200 in Service Unit 714. She is currently a senior at Sabetha High School.

Samantha's Gold Award project focused on creating awareness about bird's influence on our daily lives. She found that most people do not know how they impact the lives of birds in their community. Samantha created a presentation and website providing information about bird of prey and its importance. She taught students what they can do to help specific issues in their communities and how they can take action in saving the environment. Students were able to create their own trading cards and took seeds home to share with their families.

Samantha received donations from members of the Lions Club and the Kiwanis Club to help with the creation of trading cards and bird seed bags. With the help of parents, students, and farm owners, she hopes her project will help them establish confidence to speak up about other issues they feel could improve their community in the future.

Because of Girl Scouts... I have furthered my skills in entrepreneurship, leadership, being outgoing and social, creating goals, and always striving to be the best that I can be.
