ADA Accessible GaGa Ball Pit

Madison Bulloc has been a girl member for 11 years in Troop 2228 in Service Unit 647. Madison is currently a sophomore at St. Michael the Archangel High School.

Madison's project focused on providing play equipment that was ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) accessible – with a goal to bring everyone to the playground! She focused her efforts on her elementary school - Cordill Mason Elementary in Blue Springs, Missouri – which was also where her troop held meetings.

She built a GAGA ball pit with an accessible gate to accommodate children with wheelchairs. To complete this project, she met with the principal, made a building plan, bought the supplies, and worked with the PE teacher to help teach the students how to use the equipment. Together with her family and troop members, she built the GAGA ball pit, which will bring students of all abilities together at Cordill Mason Elementary!

“Because of Girl Scouts, I have learned so much about leadership and I am grateful for the skills that I learned that I carry with me in life and my future career.”
